Research Made Easy: Learn How to Cite, Organize, Gather, and Collaborate with NoodleTools!

This workshop is a hands-on exploration of NoodleTools, an online service that enables users to build MLA and APA citations and bibliographies. NoodleTools is a wonderful teaching aid for librarians and classroom teachers. It can enhance research skills by providing note taking and outlining features that enable researchers to cull, organize and synthesize information, along with the ability to create papers via Google Docs. NoodleTools can be used to help promote ethical research and critical thinking as well as provide teachers the ability to assess student learning and provide feedback.

The workshop will be presented in two parts: a morning session for beginners and those with minimal experience; and an afternoon session for intermediate/advanced users.

The morning session will include activating accounts, creating citations, and the components of a NoodleTools project - sources, notecards and a paper.

The afternoon session will cover sharing and collaboration of NoodleTools projects, managing citations and the teacher’s ability to comment on students’ research and notecards.

Consider attending with a colleague! It is good to share learning experiences and have a partner to collaborate with when implementing NoodleTools in your school or classroom.

This is a hands-on workshop, so bring your sources along!
